Our Vision

Computer Generated Image

The fantastic location and unique development characteristics create charming and contemporary new homes that carefully blend with the surrounding green space.

The architects at Stantec took on board this challenge with great passion and commitment to provide a delightful new living quarter within Exmouth. The magnificent and mature pine, along with the oak trees and the existing stone and brick wall enveloping the site, all combine to create a character which is closer to living in an old walled garden than a suburb.

The new homes are carefully weaved into and around the tree root systems, while the position of the gardens allow the residents to make the most of the sunpath. This location is further enhanced by grouping the development around the Grade II listed Eldin House, which continues the thread of history into this new development, with its Gothic Revival detailing complemented by the modern architecture.

Acorn's in-house design team have worked closely with Stantec to create contemporary homes with generous windows and doors which flood interiors with natural light and frame views of the lush surrounding greenery. The large format sliding doors create a flow of space from inside to out embracing the opportunity for garden living.

The design and construction is in line with our Acorn Green principles of providing high levels of insulation and low energy fittings reducing both carbon emissions and energy usage. The surrounding garden setting is enhanced with new planting providing a sanctuary to live which is immersed in nature and wildlife.
